

Places to eat in Athens during the EPSA11 conference

There are many places to have a nice meal in Athens. Some areas with nice restaurants are the following:

Kolanaki (mostly on Skoufa street—on the expensive side)

Thission (near Thission metro station—mostly cafes, bars and places for snacks and drinks)

Gazi/Kerameikos (local tavernas)

Psiri (near Monastiraki square—reasonably priced Greek tavernas)

If you want some inexpensive but very tasty kebab, do go to Monastiraki Square (try Bairaktaris or Thannasis)

For excellent fish and seafood, take a taxi to Trata on Kaisariani Square (not far from the centre of Athens and very close to the University Campus. (A taxi ride should cost € 5-7.)

For excellent lamb-chops, try the two tavernas on Eptachalkou street. Turn right as you leave the Thission metro station and walk for a few hundred meters along the direction of the tracks) To Steki toy Ilia (210 3458052)

A rather trendy restaurant with Greek cuisine is Tzitzikas & Mermigkas (Mitropoleos 12-14 Syntagma 210 3247607 € 23-28).

Excellent food from the southern Peloponnese is served at ManiMani, Falirou 10; near Acropolis (210 9218180) (On the expensive side)

Cretan Cuisine can be found at Alatsi (Vrasida 13, 210 7210501, near the Athens Hilton)—expensive.

You can find some very tasty Greek food not far from the conference location at

Ideal (Panepistemiou 46 210 3303000) € 28-35;
Democritos (Dimokritou 23)
Rosalia (Valtetsiou 58, Exarcheia, 210 34 58 052)
